

Online Safety at home

Have you checked the safety list today?

1

Parental Controls: Parental controls have been designed to help you manage your child's online activities. There are various types, some of which are free however none are fool proof and should not replace the support and guidance you give your child to keep them safer. For more information on setting up parental controls, visit <https://www.internetmatters.org/parental-controls/>

2

Supervise their online activity: Keep devices in communal areas of the house and chat with your child about their online activities. Together look at the online activities on the Thinkuknow website, the national online safety education programme

3

Explore together and chat little and often: Ask your child to show you their favourite apps and games and encourage them to teach you how to use them. Make sure they won't be in trouble and can get help by talking to you if anything happens online that makes them feel worried or scared.

4

Talk about how their online actions affect others: If your child is engaging with others online, remind them to consider how someone else might feel before they post or share something. If they are considering sharing a photo/video of somebody else, they should always ask permission first.
